Will Can Fruit In Two More Weeks

Building Practically Completed and Machinery Now Being Installed.

Workmen yesterday commenced moving the machinery into the new cannery factory, and commenced putting the machinery in its proper place. The building is now practically completed, and within the next two weeks it is hoped that the preserving of fruits in cans will have commenced.

Ed. Alkire has been employed to install the machinery, but an expert in the cannery business will arrive within the next few days to supervise the arrangement and location of the machinery and probably to superintend and manage the business for the short run this season.

The company intends canning tomatoes and all kinds of fruit that can be obtained at the time the plant will be in operation. Undoubtedly there will be plenty of fruit to keep it going. It is the intention of the company only to make a short run this season. However, after making a short run this year, the company will then have found a few little mistakes and be prepared to transact business on a large scale next year.

People who have visited most of the cannery plants of the state say that there is but one built as well as the one at Pleasant Grove, and none better. Its location is ideal and there will be an abundance of fruit and vegetables to keep it running to its full capacity. It should be a great money maker for its stockholders, and undoubtedly it will be the greatest thing for Pleasant Grove of anything ever established here.

Popular Young People Wed

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Lund gave a wedding reception in honor of the marriage of their daughter, Cleone, to S. Alma Kirk, Wednesday evening, August 26th.

The house was beautifully decorated with flowers for the occasion. The room was well lighted with electric lights and Japanese lanterns, and fitted up special for the occasion. Prof. L. A. Suburban Road Chooses Agent

Make His Home In New Station Searing Completion.

W. R. Armstrong, assistant manager of the Oregon road, was in Pleasant Grove Thursday, and while here he officially made arrangements for the road to act as agent for the road to this place. While the road was not signed, it is understood that they will be within a few days and that Mr. Jacobson take charge soon after September 1st.

Mr. Thornton and Miss Mills, his wife, have been transacting the business for the company in the Pleasant Grove office, but it has been such proportions that it requires almost one person's entire time to attend to the railroad business. As it was interfering with Mr. Thornton's business too much, he has the railroad people to come to the new station is now nearing completion. The plastering is now nearly all completed and the tracks are closely following the line of the carpenters. Mr. Armstrong said that in two more weeks he could be in readiness for it to be opened. Soon as the plastering is done, the smell of paint is worn off, and the new agent will move his family and business will be transferred to Thornton's store. Because of present inconvenience, no effort was made to go after the freight cars.

The war is playing havoc with everything. Already factories have closed down and nearly all available young men are being mustered into the army. It certainly begins to look very serious. If I could have my way I'd just as soon be home, as I am afraid it will be hard work to do anything for awhile.

J. H. Walker Will Resign From Ticket

Bishop James H. Walker, who is on the County Democratic and Progressive ticket as a candidate for superintendent of schools, will tender his resignation to the committee. His name was presented against his personal wishes, and at the time it was generally known that he was averse to becoming a candidate. The people of Pleasant Grove district want his services as principal and supervisor of the local High School and grades. He is doing excellent work in this capacity and the position he now holds is decidedly preferable to that of county superintendent. The school patrons will be pleased to learn of his actions.

Just who will be named to fill the vacancy is not yet known, but it is generally understood that A. B. Anderson of Lehi, will be offered the position.

J. D. Thorne In Old England

Writes of Preparations For War and Demoralization of Country.

A recent letter received from Jas. D. Thorne, who is doing missionary work in England, contains quite interesting accounts of what the war means there. Some extracts follow:

"Elder Wood and I went to London, Tuesday, but the war has closed the museums and but few places of amusements were open. The historic Tower of London is being used as a recruiting station. While there I thought it best to get a passport, but when we went to the American Consulate, there were hundreds of Americans ahead of us awaiting their turn. Some of them had paper money which cannot be used here.

Some rich Americans clubbed together and bought a ship. They had a few more berths than they needed which they sold for $500 each, so it looks like we would be here for some time.

I was at Leweston Tuesday, and it was a sight I shall never forget. The Germans have planted a lot of mines in the North Sea, and every fishing vessel or smack has been called in. There were over 1,200 in the docks, more than were ever there before. A war ship was there getting a lot of these ships ready to drag the sea for 200 miles to clear it of German mines.

We live close to the North sea, where there seems to be the most danger in one town the government has ordered the people to move out. They are blowing up some of the buildings and building in their places great barracks with bags of sand all along the seacoast.

It has been nothing but a stream of soldiers passing our lodge for the past few days. They come in from the country and are being mustered into the army here. There isn't a day but what a company of soldiers passes our place, coming or going to the barracks near by. I have just been out watching the army pass, about 500 of them just left for the front. They are known as the reserve. Many of them have families and it was rather touching to see wives and children marching along the side with tears in their eyes.

I have had to stop writing again. The cavalry has just been passing. The government has officers all over town and when they find a horse they want, it is taken whether the owner cares or not. Of course the government will pay for them some day but everything is fair in love and war.

The government issued a proclamation the other day that all aliens must register, so I wired all the Elders in the conference to come in. We had to undergo an examination and tell in detail where we were from, name, age, weight, color of eyes, married or single, etc., and then have a photograph, and have an imprint made of our hand and fingers.

Your Last Chance

Wouldn't you like to iron in comfort—the solid comfort that comes with being able to iron in any room in the house or even out on the porch—with no over-heated stove to watch; no changing of irons; no running back and forth; no bad air; no fumes; no dirt; no delay; no iron "too hot" or "too cold."

Insert the cord of your electric iron in any electric light socket in the house or on the veranda—and your read. The heat is uniform over the entire ironing surface; you are through an hour before the usual time and the clothes are fresher and smoother and prettier than they ever were under the heavy stove irons.

And why SHOULDN'T you own an electric iron? They cost but a few cents an hour to operate, and even at regular prices the initial cost of a good electric iron is very, very small.

And RIGHT NOW you can buy your new electric iron at a most substantial saving.

With the purchase of every electric flatiron ($3.50) we will give you a $2.00 spring folding ironing board for 50c. These boards are among the very best on the market today and retail regularly at $2.00.

We will take your old iron (sadiron, gas, coke, charcoal, or old electric iron) in part payment of a G. E. or Hotpoint electric iron ($3.50) on the following basis: Any sadiron (not more than two lbs.) 50c. each; any gas, coke, charcoal or similar iron (1 only) $1.00; any unsatisfactory or worn electric iron (1 only) $1.00.

You must act at once!

This is the last week of the special offers—they close September 1st.

Let's work together to make our ironing less work—less trouble—and less expensive. Let's do what so many other women are doing—let's iron with an electric iron from now on.
